Biographical Sketch

Samuel Loeb Haber was born to Loeb and Etta Haber on October 12, 1903 in Hirslau, Rumania. In 1911, at the age of eight, Samuel emigrated to the United States with his widowed mother, two brothers, and two sisters. The family settled in Milwaukee, Wisconsin where Sam and his brothers, William and Frank, helped support the family by selling newspapers. All three boys earned University degrees and Samuel graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1924. Trained as an economist, Haber worked in the Statistical and Reporting Division of the Works Progress Administration (WPA) in Washington, D.C. from 1935 to 1942, then as Chief Statistician for post-war planning with the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation. From 1943 to 1946 he served in the United States Army, finishing as a military government officer in Germany and holding the rank of Major.

In March of 1947, Samuel Haber joined the staff of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC) as director for the American Occupation Zone of Germany, later adding responsibility for the remainder of Germany, as well as Austria. For the next seven years he directed the JDC in Germany and Austria giving social, economic and cultural aid to nearly 200,000 Jewish displaced persons (DPs). Haber developed and directed programs to assist in the DPs' rehabilitation and emigration to Israel, the United States and other friendly countries.

In 1954 Haber was sent to Morocco to organize a social welfare program for more than 50,000 of the country's 240,000 Jews. In 1957 he was given the additional responsibility of helping the impoverished Jews of Poland, a country that had been closed to the JDC since 1950.

Haber moved from Morocco to the JDC Geneva office in 1958 to become Assistant Director-General of the organization. In 1964 he was transferred to the New York office and in 1967 was elected Executive Vice-Chairman of the JDC. Although Haber retired from the JDC at the end of 1975, his co-workers honored him by electing him Honorary Executive Vice-President of the organization.

In addition to the JDC, other social welfare organizations received benefit from Haber's experience and abilities from the 1960s to the early 1980s. He was a frequent speaker in American Jewish communities during the 1960s and 1970s at fundraising campaign meetings, usually on the topic of the JDC. Haber was Vice-Chairman of the American Council of Agencies, Vice-President of the Israel Education Fund of the United Jewish Agency (UJA), National Chairman of the Associates Division of the American Friends of Hebrew University, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Institute of Contemporary Jewry of Hebrew University, consultant for the Jewish Studies program of Columbia University and Trustee of the interfaith Hunger Appeal (which he helped establish in 1978).

Haber married Angela Press in 1941. They were divorced eleven years later. Samuel's son, Michael Haber, was born January 25, 1942. On October 11, 1952, Samuel married Zipporah (Perry) Glazer Herz in Munich, Germany. At the age of 81, Samuel L. Haber died of a heart attack on November 3, 1984 while visiting his son, Dr. Michael Haber, in Akron, Ohio.
