Biographical Sketch

The Cincinnati Jewish Community Relations Council (JCRC) was unofficially organized in the early 1930s and officially established in 1939 by a group of Cincinnati Jews who were disturbed by Adolf Hitler's rise to power in Germany and his message of antisemitism. The founders feared that Hitler's message might encourage antisemitism among the large German population of Cincinnati. Before 1939, the group did not have a name or funding, and was operated solely by volunteers. Its goal was to provide a coordinated effort to defend the Jewish community in the face of antisemitism. After the outbreak of World War II in 1939, the group was officially organized into the Public Relations Committee and received funding from the Jewish community of Cincinnati.

During the war, the group had two main goals. The first was to engage in confidential work watching subversive groups who were attacking the involvement of Jews in the war. The second goal was to defend the Jewish community from these attacks and to emphasize its involvement in the war effort.

After World War II, JCRC evolved into a community relations resource serving to coordinate friendly relations and resolutions of problems among the residents of Cincinnati, whether Jewish or non-Jewish. JCRC worked with other local organizations and churches to fulfill the common goals of defending the rights of all minorities, promoting peaceful race relations and fostering good relationships among Jews and Christians.

Many JCRC activities were designed to meet the goal of ending discrimination against Jews and other minorities in housing, education and employment. In the 1950s and 1960s JCRC joined the fight to eliminate the teaching of religion or recitation of prayers in public schools in Cincinnati and throughout the United States. In the 1950s through the 1970s, JCRC worked to stop segregation in the Cincinnati Public Schools. JCRC also fought discrimination in local clubs, parks, and hotels during the 1940s through the 1960s.

Discrimination against Jews in the Soviet Union beginning in the late 1940s provoked a protest movement in the United States. Beginning in the 1960s, JCRC joined the movement to assist Soviet Jews denied exit from the Soviet Union. JCRC joined with other groups and sponsored rallies, demonstrations and programs to bring attention to the plight of Soviet Jewry. In addition, JCRC lobbied lawmakers to pressure the Soviet Union to end the persecution.

To foster the goal of promoting peaceful race relations, JCRC initiated programs designed to educate the public about different ethnic and religious groups. Beginning in the 1940s, JCRC offered educational programs, provided resources to schools, and promoted speakers on various subjects. In response to the civil unrest of the late 1960s, JCRC helped to create the Metropolitan Area Religious Cooperation of Cincinnati (MARCC) and continues as an active member. MARCC promotes friendly relations between different religious and racial groups through religious cooperation and understanding.

Individuals active in JCRC have included a number of prominent Cincinnati Jews. Past Presidents of JCRC include Jacob Rader Marcus, Phillip M. Meyers, C. E. "Mike" Israel, Lester A. Jaffe, Harold K. Goldstein, Bernard Rosenberg, Charles Tobias, Jr., Solomon Greenberg, Carol Dragul, Benjamin Gettler, Malcolm Bernstein, Gloria Haffer, Burton Perlman, June Burgin and Barbara Rabkin.

Today, JCRC works to combat antisemitism, to secure equal rights for all people and to draw awareness to international issues such as Israel, the Middle East, the plight of oppressed Jews, and other issues of concern. One JCRC report succinctly describes the current mission of the organization:

"JCRC develops programs which explain the customs and the religion of the Jewish community to the general public. In addition, JCRC serves as a forum for discussion and coordinated action on public policy issues which affect and concern the Jewish community. Finally, the JCRC works to improve the position of all groups in American society."

Scope and Content

The collection consists of correspondence, reports, news releases, clippings, photographs, and other materials relating to the activities of the JCRC from 1934-2007. The largest sections of the collection include materials on antisemitism and the radical right, religion, church and state issues, religion in the public schools, civil rights, Israel, the National Community Relations Advisory Council, and Soviet Jewry. There are also materials on Nazism and the Holocaust, together with correspondence with Jewish and non-Jewish organizations, both national and local. Included are records of the JCRC's involvement in, and reaction to, national and local issues and events. The collection also includes financial and administrative records of the Cincinnati JCRC.

The records of the Jewish Community Relations Council are divided into five record groups. Received in small shipments over a number of years, the records were processed into groups, each at different times. Each new group was added at the end of the collection as a separate record group. Record Groups I-III were arranged chronologically under nearly identical subject headings. Record Group IV, processed in 1997, was arranged by department or agency of origin of the materials. Record Group V, processed in 2013, was also arranged, using minimal processing guidelines, by department or agency of origin of the materials. Types of materials, subject matter, and dates may overlap in more than one Record Group. The researcher is advised to explore all the groups, under similar headings, in the Series List and more detailed Box List.

Arrangement

This collection is arranged in five (5) record groups: I. 1934-1986; II. 1972-1988; III. 1976-1988; IV. 1962-1996; V. 1953-2007.

Record Group IV. Records, 1962-1996

Extent 64 linear feet (64 record cartons)

Scope and Content Record Group IV begins with items relating to the daily running of JCRC, then progresses from those series most closely relating to JCRC and Cincinnati to those less related, such as national and international concerns. The bulk of records in Record Group IV are dated in the 1980s and 1990s, with some information from the 1970s. However, some early material exists, including photographs from the 1950s and 1960s, materials concerning JCRC's twenty-fifth anniversary, and materials pertaining to discrimination at Proctor and Gamble from the 1940s to 1960s. The bulk of material in Record Group IV pertains to the administration of Michael G. Rapp and contains a great deal of information reflecting both Rapp and Assistant Director, Alice Abrams. A great deal of their correspondence, files relating to conferences they attended, and information about committees they sat on prior to 1997 are contained in Record Group IV.

Arrangement This record group is divided into nine (9) series: A. Internal Administration; B. Domestic Task Force; C. Holocaust Commemoration Committee; D. Middle East Task Force; E. Soviet Jewry Committee; F. Local Organizations; G. National Organizations; H. International Issues; I. Non-Print Materials.

Series A. Internal Administration, 1962-1996

Extent 19 linear feet (19 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note This series contains governing documents including: constitution and bylaws, revisions of these documents, minutes, correspondence, and miscellaneous records of the Board of Directors. Other files cover finance and budgeting concerns, especially those resulting after outside funding was cut. The Priorities Committee was formed to address these issues. Records of groups and organizations with which Michael G. Rapp was involved as a representative of JCRC or as a member of the Jewish community of Cincinnati are included in Series A. These organizations include the Northwest Ordinance and the United States Constitution Bicentennial Commission. The bulk of records in Series A are from the 1980s and 1990s, but some earlier records exist. Some of the earlier records in Series A relate to JCRC's twenty-fifth anniversary in 1962 and information relating to the history of Judaism in Cincinnati. Whenever the original order of the contents of the files was unclear, the contents were left in the order found, as with the Daybooks and news clippings. A number of documents relate to non-print items that were removed to the Non-Print Materials series. The Media and Publicity sub-series, for example, contains documents relating to the Mosaic television program, but the videotapes of the programs are filed in the Non-Print Materials series.

Arrangement This series is divided into fifteen (15) subseries: 1. Correspondence; 2. Administrators' Files; 3. Boards and Committees; 4. Board of Directors; 5. Daybooks; 6. Fiftieth Anniversary; 7. Fundraising; 8. Media and Publicity; 9. News Clippings; 10. Organization and Structure; 11. Programs; 12. Publications by JCRC; 13. Speakers; 14. Speakers' Bureau; 15. Strategic Planning.

Series B. Domestic Task Force, 1977-1996

Extent 7 linear feet (7 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Series B. Domestic Task Force contains the Records of the Domestic Task Force as well as files relating to domestic concerns such as antisemitism, racism, civil rights, church-state relationships, religion in public schools, and other issues. The files also contain examples of local incidents of civil rights violations, violations of church-state relationships, antisemitism, including the Ku Klux Klan cross erected on Fountain Square, and racism. This series also includes holiday calendars published by JCRC for local schools. Of particular note is information concerning employment discrimination at Proctor and Gamble based upon religion and national origin, beginning in early the 1940s and still not resolved by the 1960s, the date of the last document on file. The Domestic Task Force series relates to issues as a whole, but not specifically to organizations that may be involved in these issues. These organizations may be found in the Local or National Organization Series. Many of the issues covered by the Domestic Task force reflect issues of importance to the general population of Cincinnati, including issues not having an obvious or strong link to the Jewish community. This series reflects the JCRC's concern for rights for all, not just for Jews.

Arrangement This series is divided into eleven (11) subseries: 1. Committee Minutes and Planning; 2. Programs and Activities; 3. Antisemitism; 4. Black-Jewish Relations; 5. Christian-Jewish Relations; 6. Church and State; 7. Civil Liberties; 8. Civil Rights; 9. Extremism; 10. Government and Politics; 11. Urban Affairs and Equal Opportunity.

Series G. National Organizations, 1972-1996

Extent 7 linear feet (7 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Series G. National Organizations contains the records of the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council (NJCRAC), of which JCRC is a member, as well as other national organizations with a link to JCRC. The NJCRAC records include files for plenum, Minkoff, and Executive Task Force meetings. Many of these meetings were attended by both Michael G. Rapp and Alice Abrams, and their personal files from these meetings are included in this series. Other files from NJCRAC mainly contain correspondence to or from Michael Rapp. The NJCRAC is especially concerned with Soviet Jewry, and other issues such as domestic affairs and missions to Israel. Other groups represented in Series G. include the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC), the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (ADL) and the Jewish Institute for National Security Affairs (JINSA). Materials in Series G. reflect issues of importance to these groups, to Jews on a national level and to JCRC.

Arrangement This series is divided into two (2) subseries: 1. National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council (NJCRAC); 2. Other National Organizations.

Series I. Non-Print Materials, 1950s-1995

Extent 10.5 linear feet (10.5 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Series I. Non-print Materials contains all photographs, slides, audio and video tape recordings. Many items were removed from other series and relate to documents remaining in those series (relations are noted in both the location of the print and the related non-print item). Subjects depicted on the photographs and slides include persons active in JCRC, meetings of the organization, events and speakers sponsored or supported by JCRC, and results of antisemitic incidents. Two oversized posters are also described with the photographs, but filed in the AJA Flat File. The larger (2x3 foot) poster is a collage of photographs and other materials representing JCRC activities pasted onto a map of Israel. Newspaper headlines included on the collage are dated 1985. The smaller poster (16x20 inches) is a signed cartoon by Jim Borgman publicizing the Cincinnati Jerusalem Day Celebration of 1992.

All but one of the audio tape recordings are cassettes; one lone tape is on a reel. Subjects recorded include a conference, a legislative hearing, and interviews. Many of the video cassettes were created as educational programs and were recorded in Beta or 35mm broadcast formats. Most of the Beta tapes are worktapes, the original unedited recording of a person or event. The 35mm tapes are the final edited programs for broadcast. Researchers should note that the contents of many of the tapes are poorly labeled. And on a large portion of tapes the month and day are recorded, but the year of creation is not specified. Subjects on the video tape recordings include: JCRC events, including the fiftieth anniversary celebration; Soviet Jewry; holy days; Jewish history; Jews and events in Cincinnati; and specific individuals. Included on one tape are the recollections of Herbert Paper, a professor at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Arrangement This series is divided into four (4) subseries: 1. Photographs; 2. Slides; 3. Audio Tape Recordings; 4. Video Tape Recordings.

Scope and Content Note The Mosaic Broadcast tapes (Box 156, Folder 1 through 15) are Beta format video cassettes organized by the number (presumably assigned by JCRC) found on each tape case. Date shown in parenthesis is date recorded. Dates not in parenthesis are the air date or unidentified date. Most of the Mosaic Worktapes (Box 156, Folder 16 through Box 157) are in Beta format and some are VHS. They are organized by date. The dates recorded may have been the date filmed. These are not the final versions of programs, but Window Dub-Worktapes. The 35mm broadcast format video cassettes (Box 158 through 160) are organized in date order. The dates in the first column (in parentheses) are the dates the videos were recorded. The dates in the second column are the playback dates.
