Biographical Sketch

On Saturday evening, February 3, 1906, a group of thirty-four American Jews, mostly from the German Jewish elite of New York City, met there to establish a national Jewish defense organization in response to pogroms that ravaged czarist Russia at the turn of the 20th century. This meeting led to the formation of the American Jewish Committee (AJC), which adopted the mission "to prevent the infringement of the civil and religious rights of Jews in any part of the world" and "to enhance the well being of Israel and the Jewish people worldwide, and to advance human rights and democratic values in the United State and around the world."

Throughout its existence, the AJC has engaged in interfaith and international programs to strengthen universal human rights around the world. During World War I the AJC spurred the creation of the American Jewish Relief Committee, which aided Jewish war victims. Throughout the 1920s the AJC opposed rising anti-Semitism in the U.S., as exemplified in the 'Protocols of the Elders of Zion' as well as Henry Ford's Dearborn Independent. During the 1930s the AJC actively responded to the rise of Nazism, including attempts to rescue German Jews. In the post war era, a group of AJC delegates successfully led efforts to write human rights guarantees into the UN Charter at the founding conference of the United Nations. In the 1960s the AJC was active in the civil rights movement as well as being involved in the Vatican Council's rejection of the centuries-old deicide charge by providing research on the image of the Jew in Catholic teaching and liturgy.

In contemporary times the AJC utilizes a three-pronged program of counteraction, education, and research to fulfill its mandate. It responds to issues of Jewish concern, nationally and internationally, by mobilizing support of Americans from all walks of life, educating the public, and conducting research and studies. Its publications, Commentary and Present Tense, contribute to Jewish culture and religion. Similarly, the William E. Wiener Oral history Library documents the experiences of Jews in the arts, sciences, business and professional world.

Today, the AJC is a global non-governmental organization with offices all over the world, functioning as an international center for Jewish and Israel advocacy.

Custodial History While held by the American Jewish Committee Archives, this series suffered loss of materials during a flood and when being transferred to an off-site storage facility. Some surviving materials retain water damage. A total of 25 numbered boxes were missing from the sequential series, causing gaps in several places. Additionally, some materials were destroyed due to their informational content (personnel files, union contracts, out of date building plans, etc.).

Record Group C. Intergroup and Social Action Department, 1939-1980

Extent 78 linear feet (78 record cartons)

Scope and Content In the late twentieth century, the American Jewish Committee merged its Domestic Affairs Department (DAD) and its Intergroup Relations and Social Action Department (IRSA). There may therefore be some overlap between this series and Series D. Domestic Affairs Department. Additionally, as noted in the scope and content note to Series E. Civil Rights and Social Action Department (CRSA), there may be some shared material between the IRSA and CRSA departments as well.

Arrangement Arranged in nine (9) series: 1. Director's Office; 2. Program Consultant; 3. Legal Division; 4. Business and Industry Division; 5. Community Relations and Ethnic Minorities Consultants; 6. Education Division; 7. Housing Division; 8. Race Division; 9. Social Discrimination Division.

Series 1. Director's Office, 1960-1977

Extent 13 linear feet (13 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Includes research and budget reports, administrative memos, inter-office correspondence, meeting minutes, and similar materials. Of particular interest are meeting minutes which can be found in indicated administrative files (boxes C2, C5, C7, C8, and C9) as well as agendas and reports from meetings scattered throughout the administrative files.

Arrangement

Original order maintained. The files are organized into four rough spans of time covered: 1968-1971 (boxes C1-C6), 1972 (C7-C9), 1973 (C9-C11), and 1974-1976 (C11-C13). Each such span begins with a section of general administrative files, followed by other sections, often including administrative files covering the workings of area offices and general files alphabetized by subject. Not all files are ordered or named consistently. Some IRSA administrative files can be found among sections of subject files under "I", while others remain set apart at the beginning of the chronological span.

Extent 9 linear feet (9 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Consists mostly of correspondence and program-related materials. Correspondence includes inter-office correspondence, newspaper clippings, and other such materials sent to or by Ann G. Wolfe. These materials relate to topics of actionable interest for IRSA, such as social problems, education reform, and women's rights. Program materials include meeting agendas and minutes for programs in which IRSA hosted, organized, or participated in. Administrative files in box C19 include Intergroup Relations and Social Action Department Minutes. One item, an information packet from a conference titled "You and Your Aging Parent" can be found in box C22, among Social Welfare files related to the New York region (see arrangement note).

Ann G. Wolfe was a program consultant during the time that the Domestic Affairs Department was integrated into the Intergroup Relations and Social Action Department. Along with her files here, she has material in Series D. Domestic Affairs Department, Subseries 2. Program Consultant. The records also reflect that the department was once known as the Social Welfare Department.

Arrangement

Original order maintained. Within sections of subject files, the headings Social Welfare (found in boxes C19-C22) and Women (found in boxes C21 and C22) include administrative, geographic, and subject subheadings. Within these, administrative files include meeting minutes.

Record Group D. Domestic Affairs Office, 1955-1984

Extent 53 linear feet (52 record cartons, 2 Hollinger boxes)

Biographical Sketch Since its founding in 1906, the American Jewish Committee has been committed to securing the civil and religious rights of Jews. The American Jewish Committee has always believed that the only way to achieve this goal is to safeguard the civil and religious rights of all Americans.

In the late twentieth century, the AJC merged its Domestic Affairs Department (DAD) and its Intergroup Relations and Social Action Department (IRSA). There may therefore be some overlap between this series and Series C. Intergroup Relations and Social Action Department.

Scope and Content Contains administrative and non-administrative files dealing with the day-to-day operations, initiatives, legal battles, and long-term aims of the AJC's Domestic Affairs Department. This consists largely of materials related to American Jewry and social, political, and legal concerns deemed relevant to American Jewry. Among such materials are files on Arab economic warfare against the State of Israel, Black/Jewish relations, church/state separation, illegal immigration, anti-Semitic discrimination, religious identity, and racial quotas. Administrative files in this series include meeting minutes, program agendas, budget reports, and memos.

Arrangement Arranged in five (5) series: 1. Director's Office; 2. Program Director; 3. Legal Office; 4. General; 5. House Counsel, Women's Issues, and Executive Suite.

Series 1. Director's Office, 1955-1983

Extent 23 linear feet (23 record cartons)

Scope and Content Note Contains material on and about matters that concern American Jewry. Topics include: Jewish/Christian relations, separation of church and state, community relations, education, Israel, middle east, Arab economic warfare, area offices, energy, Black/Jewish relations, anti-Semitism, politics, Hispanic/Jewish relations, immigration, and other domestic affairs.

Arrangement Original order of this series was lost during shipment. The files have been arranged into a rough-chronological order, by original boxes. Folder labels are taken from original folders, but are inconsistent.
